The better one can extract at sight the soprano and bass lines from a hymn or chorale, the more solid music reading foundation one will achieve. The Grades 1-2 lines in SR&H simplify the soprano and bass lines from the original chorale by omitting the eighth notes and passing tones as well as occasionally reducing the quarter notes to half notes.

The Art of Sight-Reading (Part 1) — BachScholar®

Sight reading is the ability to see a new piece of music and play it correctly on the first time. The most important reason to practice sight reading is to learn music quicker. If you can play the piece rhythmically and melodically correct on the first time, you can spend more time on the details of the music, such as dynamics and emotion. After you practice sight reading, you will be able to show up to an ensemble's rehearsal and already know your part.
