The system, called "No-Nonsense Nurturing," discourages teachers from, among other things, using the word "please" in their classrooms. It also encourages teachers to eliminate unnecessary words from their interactions with students. For example, teachers at a No-Nonsense Nurturing campus might be coached to say something like "Books on desks" instead of "Your books should be on your desks now."

Nonsense mutation. A nonsense mutation is also a change in one DNA base pair. Instead of substituting one amino acid for another, however, the altered DNA sequence prematurely signals the cell to stop building a protein. This type of mutation results in a shortened protein that may function improperly or not at all.
